[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Domestic Cussedness.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Augustus Phillips, "Golly Goofly," and his mistress, Mary Hoopley, quarreled this forenoon at their residence, 142 West-Sixteenth street, and she shot him in the side, it is thought fatally. About four hours later Phillips at acked the woman and beat and kicked her so severely that her life is said to be in danger. Both are in danger and both were taken to a hospital in an ambulance.

Soldiers Killed.

FORT ROBINSON, Jan. 24.—Those killed by Indians in the recent encounter are Sergeant Taggart, Farrier Brown and Private Nelson, Co. L, 3d cavalry. Sergeant Ambrose, of Co. T, and the Indian scout Woman's Dress were wounded severely. Capt. Wessells was slightly wounded.

LATER—Capt Wessells' command arrived in camp this afternoon bringing the dead bodies of Sergeant Taggart, Privates Brown, Nelson and Debloise, the latter having died on the road; also the wounded, and seven Cheyenne prisoners, three squaws and four children, of whom three are wounded. Of the nine captured, one buck and one squaw died before reaching here. They were carefully searched and but two small knives found. Capt. Wessells' wound is very slight, and those of Sergeants Ambrose and Reed, and Woman's Dress, (Indian scout), not dangerous. The board meets at this post tomorrow to make an investigation into the whole affair. It is composed of Maj. Evans, 3d cavalry, and Lieut. Schuyler, aide-de-camp to Gen. Crook. The Indians now here are under strong guard and will be taken to Fort Leavenworth. Private Hautz, Co. H, 3d cavalry, who was wounded the day after the outbreak, died in the hospital to-day.

A New Departure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The examining committee of the stock exchange have voted to place mining stocks upon their list. They require a sworn statement of the financial condition of the company making application, and to send at its expense an expert named by the exchange to examine the property of the company. The first stock placed on this list is the Homestake Mining Co., of California, also $10,000,000 of stock of the Homestead Mining Co., of Dakota.

The New York Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The senate committee on nominations has decided to report adversely to the New York nominations.

Sharon Speaks.

Sharon said, on presenting the resolutions of the Nevada legislature to-day: "The evils complained of have existed a long time. The people had a right to be protected as the government had subsidized this road by their money and lands. Congress should see that the people are not imposed upon by these railroad corporations. In other words the creature should not be allowed to rise above the creator."

A Disputed Property.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The house committee on public lands to-day adopted a resolution by a vote of six against three, requesting the chairman to prepare a bill referring all claims to the Panoche Grande quicksilver mines to the court of claims to determine the ownership and requiring the attorney-general to appear in behalf of the government.

The cabinet session to-day was the longest in duration that has been held for years. All members were present. There was consider able discussion of the pension bill. Indian affairs and Sitting Bull were also much discussed.

The Attempt to Destroy the "Government Patent" Land Titles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Luttrell's Pulgas ranch bill came up again in the house to-day. It was vigorously opposed by Horace Davis who said its passage would unsettle all real estate titles on the Pacific coast, as it was an attempt to destroy the patent issued 22 years ago and overthrow title which had been nine times favorably adjudicated. Luttrell supported the bill and Candler, who reported against it as chairman of the private land claims committee in the last congress, made a long speech in opposition. The morning hour expired and the bill went over without action, but comes up again next Friday.

A Twenty-Million Call.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The secretary of the treasury this afternoon issued the 84th call for the redemption of 5 20 bonds of 1865, consols of 1867. The call is for $20,000,000.

THE CIPHERS.

The Messages in Butler's Possession to be Deciphered for the Committee—Tilden to be Represented by Counsel.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Butler offered the following:

Resolved, That the committee receive from Butler the cipher dispatches which he shall present to them, and that the clerk be directed, in connection with some person whom Butler shall designate, make a complete inventory of the dispatches so received in duplicate, and certify to the same, one copy to be preserved for the use of the committee and one given to Butler, that all cipher dispatches so received shall be printed for the committee, that, unless hereafter otherwise ordered, before any original copies are given out for publication they shall be submitted to be chosen by a person who shall be sworn to make faithful transcription and decipher the same according to his best knowledge, skill and ability, and that he will not allow any cipher dispatches given him to be given to any person or given out for publication, nor any of the dispatches nor any supposed translation without previous agreement obtained from the committee to do so, and he will return to the committee all printed sheets and telegrams committed to him with such translation as he shall make, receiving from the committee such reasonable sum for his work as the committee may judge proper.

The resolution was unanimously agreed to.

Reed then offered the following:

Whereas, Hewitt of New York, in his place in the house, after alleging that Samuel J. Tilden has been charged with the cipher dispatches, has demanded that Tilden have an opportunity to face his accusers before a competent tribunal. Therefore

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution directing this committee to investigate the cipher dispatches be sent to Tilden, and that Tilden be allowed to be represented by counsel.

Tilden Not to be Represented.

In the Potter committee to-day he resolution or Representative Reed, providing that Tilden be allowed to be represented at the meetings of committee by counsel, was tabled instead of accepted, as stated in a former report. The Democrats all voted to table the resolution and the Republicans against it, Butler being silent.

THE ELECTION INVESTIGATION.

A Democratic Witness on the Stand.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24.—Before the Teller committee, Representative N. J. Cumming a member of the legislature from Natchitoches testified: The general tenor of the testimony of witnesses on the Republican side is to the effect of conspiracy on the part of Democrats to break open the meetings of republicans. Such testimony is unqualifiedly false. There were no organized bands such as Blount described. Our action against Blount and others was taken for protection, they having threatened to get negroes together to burn the town. It was reported that Blount had 10 or 11 armed negroes in his house. After consultation we concluded it would not be safe to allow him to remain there. Witness was acting as chief of police. The affair was quietly managed and no violence or banishment was contemplated. Witness considered the Bredis witnesses the most bloodthirsty men he ever saw. When they were acting with the Democrats they proposed to kill the Republican leaders. It was natural for us to think when they turned over to the other side that they would propose to kill us. The testimony of witness throughout was contradictory to Republican witnesses, except as to Blount, Bredis and others being ordered to leave the parish, but witness said that that was not political. He declined to express an opinion as to whether it would be safe for Bredis to return, they having done great injustice to the whole people of the parish.

It is, therefore, advisable, "says the Golos," that troops should remain at Adrianople until April so that the porte may still feel the influence of their presence when the result of the election of prince for Bulgaria is declared." The Golos also says that England is the de facto sovereign in Afghanistan and has every chance for carrying through her plans in Asiatic Turkey.

It has been ascertained that Wm. Hellman, ex secretary of the Wells Fargo Mining Co., who was discharged January 2d, has overissued the stock of the company, to the amount of 2,080 shares and had collected an assessment of 50 cents on the overissue. Since then Hellman has returned and canceled 1,495 shares of the overissue. The president and secretary are instructed to demand from Hellman the balance of the overissue and the sum of $1,040, collected illegally on assessments, and when said stock and money is collected, to dispose of the same according to law and take the necessary steps under the laws of the state to enforce the penalties attached thereto.

ARIZONA.

Eastward, Ho!

YUMA, Jan. 24.—The Southern Pacific track is now on the east slope of Mohawk Summit, 78 miles east of Yuma.

Wm. Lafoon, a young man about 18 years of age, lately from North Yamhill, where his mother resides, started from The Dalles on Tuesday morning of last week, on horseback, to carry the Ochoco mail as far as Oak Grove, a distance of 45 miles. It appears that this was the first time he was ever over the route, and night overtaking him, he go off the road, became lost and partially deranged. He was found Thursday, camped under a tree, almost entirely naked and delirious, having been out two nights. Both of his feet and legs are badly frozen. He will probably lose all his toes, but the doctor thinks he will be able to save the feet. The boy tells a very pitiful story. Before dark on the first day he left the road and went to a cabin to try and ascertain if he was on the right road. He found the cabin deserted, and instead of remaining till morning, he started off in a blinding snow storm, and soon became lost and delirious. During the night he came to a tree, and imagining it a hotel, concluded to stop there for the night. Feeling sleepy and tired, he concluded to go to bed. He took off his clothes, all except a thin undershirt, and, as he thought, went to bed. When found on Thursday he was lying face down, with his arms drawn under his head, partially covered with snow.

Jacksonville Sentinel: The contract for carrying the mail from Roseburg to Coos Bay was awarded to J. W. Warren, an old settler, at about $4,000 per annum but Mr. Warren finding himself hit, failed to connect. The department has called "next" and in the mean time the people of Coos Bay are without mail facilities.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.

The vice president submitted a memorial from Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony and other officers of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, praying the passage of the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the states from disfranchising persons on account of sex; referred.

Sharon presented a resolution from the Nevada legislature favoring legislation preventing the Central Pacific railroad from making unjust discriminations and practicing extortion; referred. Sharon urged that the people had rights to be protected by the government.

Saulsbury called up the resolution submitted by him on the 17th inst, calling upon the secretary of the treasury for information in regard to commissions paid bankers and others for negotiating sales of U S bonds, etc.

Morrill submitted an amendment, providing that information heretofore communicated to either house of congress shall not be repeated, but reference to documents where the same is to be found shall be made, and the names of subscribers who have paid may be omitted.

The amendment was accepted by Saulsbury, and the resolution was agreed to as amended.

Ferry called up the bill submitted by conference committee at last session for the establishment of post routes and for other purposes, and said that the object was to see if the two houses could not agree upon the bill by striking out subsidy and other objectionable features.

Pending discussion the morning hour expired.

Ferry's motion to continue consideration of conference report was agreed to—yeas 30, nays 22. Debate followed.

Thurman submitted a resolution that the conference to be appointed on the part of the senate, be instructed to agree to strike out the amendment of the senate relating to the franking privilege, added by way of proviso to the 11th section of the bill.

Edmunds said that as this subject involved questions of order, he moved it be referred to a select committee of five senators to consider quietly, and disentangle this knot in respect to constitutional privileges.

Blaine submitted the following:

Resolved, That the amendments of the senate pending bill changing the rate of duties on imported books and affecting the revenues of the government by declaring certain matter free which now pays postage being in the judgment of the house an infringement of the constitutional rights of that body, are hereby withdrawn from the bill.

Ferry submitted a resolution that the senate agree to the second report of the committee of conference on the resolution of the house, returning the house bill with amendments made by Kirkwood June 18, 1878, and insist upon its amendments to the bill and ask for a conference on the disagreeing votes of the two houses.

After discussion of the motion of Edmunds to refer the question to a special committee of five senators it was agreed to—yeas 30, nays 21.

Edmunds moved to take up the resolution recently submitted by him, declaring the validity of the 15th, 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution.

Thurman moved to adjourn; rejected—yeas 24, nays 28.

Before the vote was announced Garland said he had voted "no," although he was paired on political questions with the senator from Iowa (Kirkwood). If this question to adjourn was regarded as a political one, and the vice president would so state it, he would withdraw his vote.

The vice president replied that it was not in his power to decide.

Garland—Then I let my vote stand "No."

Edmunds renewed his motion to take up his resolutions.

Eaton moved to go into executive session; rejected by a rising vote—yeas 25, nays 29.

Several dilatory motions followed.

Edmunds renewed his motion to take up his resolution.

White moved to adjourn; agreed to—yeas 28, nays 23.

House.

A proposition to have the sugar bill made a special order for Wednesday next was objected to by Banks.

Senate amendments to bill appropriating $60 000 for the transportation of coin and bullion, and $40,000 for miscellaneous expenses of the house, were concurred in.

Fuller submitted a resolution directing the committee on ways and means to consider the feasibility of enacting a law to equalize the internal revenue tax among the states; adopted.

The house went into committee of the whole on the private calendar. Almost all war claims bills were objected to by Bragg. The committee rose and 112 private bills reported were passed by the house.

Manning presented a substitute for the army organization bill and asked to have it printed; so ordered.

Taylor introduced a bill for the extension of the privileges of Cincinnati as a port of entry; referred.

The house then took a recess till 7 30, the evening session to be for the business of judiciary.

A REMEDY WORTH TRYING.

PORTLAND, Jan. 23, 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The enclosed article upon "Drunkenness Cured" comes from a source which commands respect. The details of the cure recognize the fact that intemperance becomes a disease with indulgence, which must have pathological as well as moral treatment.

Dr. R. D'Unger describes the effect of alcohol upon the nerve cells, and how red Peruvian bark acts as an antidote, and also takes away all desire for strong drink. Hon. S. W. Wheelock, mayor of Moline, Illinois, who furnished the copy of this article for the Moline Review, January 3d, is a gentleman well known for his humane efforts to save men from the miseries of drunkenness. This remedy may rescue some of our citizens and arrest others who are on the "down grade."

Yours, G. H. ATKINSON.

DRUNKENNESS CURED.

[Chicago Letter, Dec. 19.]

The physicians and temperance men of Chicago are excited over a new remedy discovered by Dr. Robert D'Unger, which not only cures intemperance but leaves the drunkard with an absolute aversion [indifference] to spirituous liquors.

Yesterday I had a long talk with Mr. Medill about this wonderful discovery, during which I asked him:

"Is this medicine a secret?"

"No, not at all. Dr. D'Unger is a regular practitioner. He tells the secret to everyone, and many of our physicians are using his discovery. I will give you a note to him, and he will tell you about it."

Armed with Mr. Medill's note, I called on Dr. D'Unger at the Palmer House.

"You are just in time," said the Doctor. "I'm just going to call on a patient now, who, though a rich man, has been a debauched drunkard for three years, and a steady drinker for fifteen years. For six weeks he has been in bed as helpless as a child. His memory was even gone. He has been taking my medicine for four days."

"Is Mr. —— in bed?" asked the Doctor, as we gave our hats to the servant.

"Oh, no! he's in the parlor reading. Walk in."

And there was the drunkard, still weak, but mentally cured. When the doctor asked him if he had any longing for liquor he said:

"No, none whatever. I have eaten the best meal this morning that I have eaten in fifteen years. I am not mentally depressed. I am strong, and wouldn't take a drink of liquor for the world, and—"

"Oh, Doctor," interrupted his wife, "you have saved George, and we are so happy," and then her eyes filled with tears of joy.

"Will that man ever drink again?" I asked the doctor.

"No. I've never had a patient cured by chinchona rubra return to drink again; they hate the sight of liquor."

"Now Doctor," said I, "what did you give that patient, or, in other words, tell me in plain English what your medicine is, how you prepare it and how any one may give it so as to cure an habitual drunkard—I mean a drunkard with inflamed eyes, trembling hands, bloated body and intellect shattered by habitual drink."

"My medicine," said the Doctor, "can be bought at any fourth class drug store. It is red Peruvian bark, quinine is from the yellow bark. Now, there are eight varieties of the bark. I use the bark from the small limbs of the red variety. Druggists call it the quill bark because it comes from twigs about the size of a quill.

"How do you mix it?"

"I take a pound of the best fresh quill red Peruvian bark, chinchona rubra, powder it and soak in a pint of diluted alcohol. Then I strain it and evaporate it down to half a pint—so it is a pound to half a pint. Any one can prepare it."

"How do you give the medicine?"

"I give the drunken man a teaspoonful every three hours, and occasionally moisten his tongue between the doses the first and second days. It acts like quinine. The patient can tell by headache when he is getting too much. The third day I generally reduce the dose to half a spoonful, then to a quarter spoonful, then down to fifteen, ten and five drops."

"How long do you continue the medicine?"

"From five to fifteen days, and in extreme cases to thirty days. Seven is about the average."

"Now, please tell me the philosophy of this medicine—why it cures drunkenness, and how you happened to make the discovery."

"Well, first you must understand that intemperance, first a habit, finally becomes a disease. It becomes a disease if the nerve cells, or, if talking to a physician, I should say it becomes a disease of the sensorial ganglia. I found by dissecting the brain of a man who had died of delirium tremens that the cells of the quadrigeminal body, or cells that send the nerves to the eye, were in an unnatural state on the outside, while within the nerve cells themselves I discovered a yellow, yeasty looking deposit.

"Now, I asked myself, what is this yellow deposit, and what causes this abnormal look of the cells? It was caused, I learned after much research, by the external part of the alcohol going strait to the outside of the cells. Now, if I drink milk," continued the doctor, "or eat food, it will take it four hours to pass through the digestive organs, to be taken up in the blood, and passed to the nerve cells, from which the brain is fed, while if I drink alcohol it will go straight to the nerve cells in three minutes. This shows that alcohol is not digested. It is not food. It is a poison—is fluid electricity, which goes over the sensitive nerves as electricity over the wire, strait to the outside of the nerve cells, which it stimulates artificially when they should be stimulated naturally through the blood.

"If the spirit of alcohol," continued the Doctor, "were digested like soup the kidneys and liver would extract from it its poisonous properties as they extract the injurious salts from our food, and this poison would never reach the brain. Once stimulated unnaturally by a poisonous substance like whisky the nerve cells call for larger and larger doses, till by and by a man can drink two quarts of whisky or eat seven grains of morphine a day. Chinchona rubra stops the call for alcohol."

"Does not red Peruvian bark and alcohol both stimulate the nerve cells? Then why can one cure the other?" I asked.

"Well, alcohol is a fermented, distilled stimulant, with poison in it, while my medicine is a natural stimulant, containing no poison; so my medicine stimulates the nerves, and not being poisonous, inflammation, that is, it holds the cells open until the morbid deposit is forced out, and the cells accustom themselves to receive their stimulus naturally through the arteries. It stops all craving for alcohol."

"Please explain the passage of food and poisoned alcohol to the brain again," I said.

"Well, when a man drinks alcohol it goes like electricity straight to the nerve cells; thence to the eye through the optic nerve; then to the brain, making a man talk lively; then to the spinal column, limbering the back, then to the muscular system, and, when it finally gets to the stomach, he vomits. Food goes just the opposite way. Food goes to the stomach first, then into the blood, then to the heart, and finally through the arteries to the brain."

"Then red Peruvian bark stimulates and builds up the nerve cells until they begin to receive nutrition from the blood?"

"Yes, that's it. The only credit I claim is making the discovery and discovering the location of the disease known as dipsomania."

"How did you discover that red chinchona barks would cure drunkenness?"

"Well, I first discovered it down in Maryland, twelve years ago. An account was published in the Sun at that time. I had a case of a drunkard, Bill Stevens, who also had intermittent fever. It was a hard case of fever, and so I tried red Peruvian bark instead of quinine. To my surprise, it not only cured his fever, but he never wanted to drink whisky afterwards. When he went into a saloon and the boys asked him to drink, Bill said:

"'I can't, boys. That dogon red bark the doctor gave me not only killed my fever, but it spoiled all the whisky in Maryland for me.'"

"What conspicuous cures in Chicago can you refer to, doctor?"

"Well, Dr. S. B. Noble. He had the alcoholic disease. His nerve cells were poisoned. He was once president of the Illinois Dental Association. He got to be a hard drinker. His mind began to be affected, though a scholar and a gentleman, beloved by everybody. He tried red Peruvian bark three weeks ago. He's a well man now, and every body in Chicago looks at his cure as a miracle. Dr Noble knows it was a disease, and don't object to be referred to."

I am satisfied that if the physicians in New York will give Dr. D'Unger's discovery a trial they will do more temperance in a year than Gough and Murphy have done in all their lives. It is the first remedy ever discovered that kills the disease and the inclination to drink at one and the same time.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

The fair in aid of the Roman Catholic cathedral in New York city realized $175,000. The expenses were only $5,000.

The arrivals of emigrants at New York in 1878 aggregated 81,505, against 66,282 in 1877. The increase is encouraging and healthful.

Last year there were 7,629 marriages, and 25,729 births in New York city. The Irish brides numbered 777 and the Irish grooms 633.

The financial embarrassments of Louisiana according to Congressman Randall Gibson, must be laid at the door of Gov. Nicholls, who, Mr. Gibson says, is "stupidly indifferent" to the claims of Louisiana's creditors.

Including Representative Hartridge, nine members of the forty-fifth congress have died. They are Senators Morton and Bogy, and Representatives Leonard, Welch, Quinn, Williams, Douglass, Hartridge, Schleicher.

Maine's plucky Democratic governor, who owes his election to the Nationals, who placed a third party in the field, took early occasion in his message to express the soundest financial doctrine and denounce the legal tender act as unconstitutional.

A lucky family is that of the Barings. The founder of their families was a trader in Exeter, England, a hundred years ago, and now the family holds a baronecy, barony, bishopric, and an earldom; possesses immense wealth, and has sixty livings in its gift.

Ex President Woolsey of Yale college, after a careful investigation as to the interpretation of the Greek words aion and aionios on which depends the doctrine of the duration of future punishment concludes that the words refer to an unending future life of happiness or misery.

Republicans in the senate are contemplating a resolution to force the Democrats to a vote upon an expression of hard money views. The resolution will be of a character to either split the Democratic vote or place the party in a very uncomfortable situation for eastern Democrats to occupy. Senator Eaton, a few days since, after listening to Voorhees' Greenback speech, said in his opinion the Democrats had reached the forks of a road, and if Voorhees' way was Democracy he for one would take the other.

The statistics show that the average citizen of this country who lives upon or within his income earns and expends less than $500 a year.

OREGON.

A sawmill is soon to be erected at Beaverton.

A nugget of gold worth about $10 was found on Silver creek.

Some wretch in Jacksonville amuses himself in tearing pickets from fences.

Ed Cawley, a stage driver of Southern Oregon, was severely injured a few days ago.

The band engine ordered some time ago by the Corvallis fire department has arrived and is in every way satisfactory.

Summer Lake in Lake county has many wants. A tri-weekly mail, a saw mill and more population are among them.

Last week Mrs. Wm. Huffman, of Jacksonville, slipped on the ice in her dooryard and broke her left arm just above the wrist.

Washington's birthday will be celebrated at Albany by a grand festival, fair, sociable, etc., by the Ladies' Aid Society at the opera house.

Everything frozen up in Josephine county. Illinois river is blocked up with tailings from Scott gulch and a freshet is badly needed to clear it out.

The sheriff of Jackson county has collected up to date a little over $11,000 of taxes due for 1879. The whole amount to be collected is $33,135 98.

The Salem Chinese mission school is prosperous, and its friends claim that it is doing much good. Its students will soon give a public exhibition.

Clarence E. Stadts, on the 18th inst., killed a very large coyote on the farm of J. W. Allen, King's valley, for which he received a bounty of $50 50.

Vagrant siwashes living about Jacksonville have made up a purse of $60 for the defense of Indian Steve, who was concerned with Rath in the murder of Sebring.

Quite a large number of claims have been located in the Yaquina Bay and Alsea country during the last fall, and even during the winter. The country is looking up very rapidly.

There are now in the Odd Fellows library at Salem, 1,237 books—an increase of 64 volumes the past year. There are 19 news papers and 12 magazines received at the library regularly.

Jacksonville Sentinel: Messrs. Parnell & Ball picked up a nugget in their claim near Grant's Pass last week which weighed twenty-two ounces or $374. They must have tolerable good dry diggings.

Alice, a little daughter of J. D Flock, living in Beef Bend, who was so severely burned some three weeks since and has suffered the most agonizing and excruciating pain, is thought to be slowly recovering.

Since the thaw it is found that the young grain in Washington county was not injured by the freezing weather as it was feared. Mr. J Jackson, near Hillsboro, has some volunteer oats that are unhurt, and of course the wheat is all right.

Salem Statesman: A young man by the name of John Carter, or John Orr, was arrested at the Salem depot Jan. 23, on a charge of forgery, he having cashed a note at Judd & Bush's bank for $3,500, drawn on Bates & Helmerick, of Buena Vista, which is claimed to be a forgery.

The citizens of Sodaville are taking steps to improve the condition of the soda fountain at that place. It is the intention to take away a part of the brick which now surround the spring and to put down in place of it a marble tank, and to also improve the grounds around the spring.

The people of eastern Oregon are sufferers indeed from the mail dead lock. A Prineville friend says: Can't you press in a daily through that horseback mail? It is distressingly lonesome out here. We read everything that comes in, clear down to jewelry circulars, and even fashion plates, and then lie on our backs and watch the spiders weaving their nests in the corners of the ceiling.

An Applegate correspondent says: This has been a splendid winter on stock; so far they are looking well. Weather still cold and frosty. The general desire is for rain, but still it does not come. The most of our miners are studying how to amuse themselves while waiting for rain, and looking rather blue. Nothing being done in the farming line, as the ground is frozen too deep, and fears are entertained that the grain sown in the fall is very much injured by the freeze.

THE INVESTIGATION.

SALEM, Jan. 23, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Salem Mercury of last week contains a comparison of the amounts of certain articles which the committee in their report state were purchased for use in the Modoc war and the amounts reported as purchased by the quartermaster general.

The committee took their figures from the vouchers for supplies, and they furnish a correct statement of the articles paid for. The fact that the quartermaster reports, in most instances, less than one-half of these articles among his purchases proves one of two things—either that these articles were paid for and never delivered, or that they were delivered and appropriated to private uses, and the quartermaster's report of purchases was made to correspond with the amounts which had been disposed of honestly. Which horn of the dilemma will the Mercury man take? Either sustains the statement of the committee that gross frauds had been perpetrated.

These matters are of record and a comparison of the vouchers paid, with the report of the quartermaster will either convict that officer of fraud and the auditing board of criminal negligence, or it will show the committee either dishonest or wretchedly incompetent. Such comparisons as are made by the Mercury prove nothing. The quartermaster would hardly convict himself of fraud or the face of his own report. Certainly he would not be fool enough to report more purchases than he could show have been properly issued. The examination seems to show that Mr. Cann was the only man investigated who kept a debtor and creditor account without regard to balance against himself.

Are those newspaper who carp so unceasingly at the committee such apes as to suppose the people are to have their attention turned from acknowledged delinquencies of the state officials by hawking at real or supposed errors in the committee's figures? If that is their idea they will soon enough realize that there is no greater fool than he who imagines everybody else to be such. The Mercury laments the committee's want of fairness, but utters no regret over the fraudulent bill certified to by Grover and allowed by Chadwick for bringing Sam May from Salt Lake for trial. Will it explain, upon some honest basis, how Foudry was allowed per diem for 107 days while he was only necessarily employed 20 days, or how he was allowed mileage for Sam May and per diem at $3 per day for 53 days for May, when there never was a law upon the statute book allowing per diem for a prisoner under any circumstances? It is a peculiar sensitiveness that can view such frauds with complacency and not yet grow so indignant at denunciations of others' improprieties are unpardonable, but fraud and theft with them are mere peccadilloes. I wonder that these virtuous Pecksniffs are so shocked at the impropriety manifested by the committee in their censures and not yet so charitable toward deeds like this. And therein I am forcibly reminded of the fellow on trial for stealing a hog. After the jury retired his counsel said to him that his guilt was clearly proven. "But," said the culprit, "they will never find me guilty." "Why?" responded his counsel. "Oh, you see every man on the jury got a piece of the hog." Oh, no! Tried by the class of men of which the Mercury editor is a sample, Grover, Chadwick & Co will never be found guilty. But the end is not yet, the people will not be left to form their judgment upon the findings of the committee and the plea of no guilty by the parties implicated. Judicial proceedings will show a darker page than the committee have ever hinted at. Mark well the prediction.

WHY WOMEN MARRY.

[From Vanity Fair.]

The question which we considered last week, "Why Men Marry," is an interesting one, but it must be pronounced inferior in interest to the question, "Why Women Marry," in the degree in which men are in all respects less interesting than women. The willingness of women to marry is more patent than that of men, and we will add that it is a great deal more wonderful. That women have, to use a colloquial phrase, the worst of it all through life, we entertain no doubt, and that the matrimonial state, as understood by experience, has, as a rule, fewer attractions for them than for men, we also believe to be true. Yet while there are many men who from choice abstain from marrying, and still more who put off marrying till the last practicable moment, we doubt if there are any women worth mentioning who refuse the married

SAILING AND STEAM VESSELS

A New York marine journal publishes tables of the merchant marine of the world in 1877 and 1878 The aggregates are these: In 1877 there were 51,912 sailing vessels, and in 1878, 49,529, a decrease of 2 383, and. meanwhile, the gross tonnage of sailing vessels fell from 14 799 130 in 1877, to 14,218 072 in 1878, a decrease of 581,058. There were 5,471 steamships, in 1877 and in 1878, 5, 462, a loss of nine, but, meanwhile, the gross tonnage of steamers increased from 5,507,699 in 1877, to 5,595,175 in 1878, an increase of 87,476.

These figures disclose two important facts. First, steam vessels continue to supersede sailing vessels, and second, the average size of steam vessels shows a tendency toward increase, while the size of sailing vessels diminishes. A little calculation will show that during the year there was an increase of the average size of steam vessels from 1,045 to 1,077 tons, while the average size of sail vessels diminished from 311 to 308 tons

Great Britain's superiority as a commercial nation is strikingly illustrated by these tables. Of the tonnage of sailing vessels 5,596,018, or more than three-eighths of the whole, are British, while of the steamer tonnage, 3,465,187, or nearly two thirds, are of the same nationality. It is noticeable, moreover, that during the last year there were additions of 69,088 to the tonnage of sailing vessels, and additions of 181,277 to the tonnage of steamers of Great Britain, so that if the tendencies observable last year continue much longer, the period is near at hand when Great Britain will own fully half the gross tonnage of the world, a position she practically holds at present, if allowance is made for the increased capacity steamers possess over sailing vessels on account of their superior celerity of movement. Second in rank is the merchant marine of our own country; but it is comparatively a small portion of our tonnage that is employed in the foreign trade, and there was a decline last year alike in the sailing vessel and steamer tonnage of this country, the number of sailing vessels falling from 6,307 to 6,050 in 1878, and their tonnage declining from 2,146,731 to 2,075,832, while the number of steamers declined from 542 to 516, and their tonnage from 674,038 to 659,101. The fact is, Great Britain almost monopolizes the foreign carrying trade, as our energies have for the last twenty years been devoted to internal development, through the agency of railroads. But nothing can be more certain than that as this country tends more and more toward full development of its internal resources, a reverse movement will take place in its foreign carrying trade; for when its enormous energies, no longer finding room for expansion within, are forced to look without for active development, the conquest of the world's commerce will begin in earnest. Yet it is not unlikely that for a while yet our foreign carrying trade will continue to decline. The causes which will eventually arrest this tendency have not yet arrived nor begun their operation.

JUST ONE KICK.

The editor of a paper which is called the Willamette Farmer, a paper which is almost wholly a reprint of the organ of a political faction which is detested by the people of Oregon, writes a long article this week in his well known driveling and pusillanimous style, in which he gives vent to his feeble wrath against THE OREGONIAN and manifests his sneaking envy of its standing, its circulation and its success. The basis of this spleenish balderdash is his own unsupported assertion that this paper doesn't correctly report the wheat market; and the editor of the so-called Farmer, who is known only for his weak, washy and everlasting flood of nambypamby, tries to make his point by elaborating with feeble garrulity his own morbid suppositions and recollections during several years past. "How is it," he says, "that the editor of the Farmer, on coming to Portland a comparative stranger, can immediately give correct information of Portland grain transactions? How comes it that THE OREGONIAN, having been published here almost thirty years, and possessing more financial resources than all the rest of the newspapers in Oregon, never has been able to tell the producers of Oregon full and correct news?" There is no mystery about this, since the assertions contained in the above, in so far as they refer to this paper, are wholly without foundation and therefore characteristic of their author. THE OREGONIAN's reports of the markets are prepared with painstaking exactness. Its own resources as a newspaper place it above subserviency to any ring either in politics or business. As for the Farmer, it is published in connection with and is the weekly edition of an organ of a political clique which prostitutes everything to its own interests, its news, such as it has, is filched from THE OREGONIAN, and the larger part of its matter, to save expense of type setting, is transferred to its columns after having done duty in the "machine" organ Every week THE OREGONIAN prints more useful agricultural matter than can be found in the columns of this organ which makes fraudulent pretensions as an agricultural journal, but whose editor knows nothing either of the theory or experience of any branch of husbandry. He now is ambitious to add one more to the number of those who for years past have tried to obtain standing in journalism by assailing THE OREGONIAN Like all the rest he will soon see the failure of his pigmy efforts. This journal spurns with contempt all such petty, though envious and malignant assailants; and if any one thinks it is making in this case too much of an exceedingly small matter, the answer is that no rule of forbearance requires it to refrain from giving such assailants an occasional kick, when they most deserve it. The editor of the so called Farmer had no reason whatever to make his assertions except that he hoped to gull somebody into subscribing for his motley sheet, and he didn't scruple at malicious untruth to compass it

SOUTHERN ELECTIONS

That infamous outrages were perpetrated in the recent elections in the southern states there is now abundant proof Through the investigations of the Teller committee and proceedings in the courts a great many things have been disclosed which those who have made a 'solid south' would have been glad to keep in concealment. It can now no longer be denied that Louisiana was terrorized and many colored people murdered. The governor himself, as a result of his own investigations, is compelled to admit that the dreadful tale of blood is a true one. The murders served the purpose intended, all political opposition was quelled, and the party of outrage and murder had the election all their own way In South Carolina, in spite of all efforts to suppress the truth, the story of the issue ballots and of the frauds of which they were the instrument has been divulged. Very full information is furnished as to the manner in which the boxes in nearly every precinct were stuffed with these ballots, all in the interest of "reform" and 'good government.' And from Florida comes the news that the canvassing board of Brevard county have been convicted of making false returns and its members sentenced to the penitentiary; while proof is also furnished that Gov. Hull proposed the fraud and assisted in it his order that he might obtain the certificate of election to the seat in congress to which Brisbee, his Republican competitor, had been actually elected Gov. Hull is under indictment, and probably will follow his coadjutors in the fraud to the penitentiary These events throw a great deal of necessary light on the methods by which the south has been made "solid" The impetuous southerners have rather overdone the business and will lose in the north to pay for the 'gains" of which they boast through this manner of conducting elections

GROVER'S REMARKABLE CHARGE

When Mr. Grover said that the members of the legislative committee were, "selected as persons capable of being manipulated by men who have for years been his personal enemies," he made an accusation against the president of the senate and the speaker of the house which will seem extraordinary to all who are acquainted with the relations which these persons have always held with Mr Grover. It can only be accounted for on the supposition that he was in great strait for means of defence and hesitated not under these circumstances to do injustice to men who have always been his friends and supporters.

The president of the senate, John Whiteaker, is a well known leading Democrat. He was elected first governor of the state when Grover was his associate on the ticket as successful candidate for congress. When Grover in turn became a candidate for the governorship Whiteaker was his earnest supporter, first in 1870, and again in 1874. In 1876 when Grover was a candidate for the senate Whiteaker stood by him, and the support of Whiteaker, accorded him in caucus as well as in the joint session of the houses, was the most potent single influence in securing Grover's election. When these facts are taken into account, and when also it is remembered what position Whiteaker holds in his party and as a public man, being member elect of the house of representatives of the United States, the president of the state senate and formerly governor of the state, it will appear most remarkable that Grover should have made this charge against him.

Hardly less remarkable is it that such a thing should be said by Grover about the speaker of the house. John M. Thompson, of Lane, is and always has been a Democrat, and he also has been an earnest friend and supporter of Grover. When chosen speaker of the house he received the vote of every Democratic member, showing the estimation in which he is still held by his party. The members named by the president of the senate for the investigating committee are men who have always been numbered among Grover's supporters. Those named by the speaker of the house, with the single exception of the Republican member, Thompson, of Multnomah, are men of the same class; and Grover poorly requites them for the support they have rendered him when he declares that they have allowed themselves to be "manipulated" by his personal enemies to do him wrong.

The question is, did Mr. Grover say this thing because he thought it necessary to say something, and could say nothing else? Which one of the persons against whom he makes this extraordinary accusation has not a reputation for sincerity and fairness at least equal to his own?

The so called Farmer, in its so called report of the markets, says:

We take from the dispatches published in THE OREGONIAN report of Liverpool wheat market, that quotes wheat just shipped or to be shipped, per 500 lbs. to Queenstown for orders, 4s, whereas we have reliable information that orders are 4s, and that possibly 4s 6d can be obtained for a round lot of really choice. We gave the same last week, and know we are correct, which shows the trustworthy character of the market reports of our contemporary.

The so-called Farmer's facts halt as lamely as its grammar and its sense. If it have that "reliable information" why don't it give it and state the source of it, instead of depending on our dispatches? It has no such "reliable information," and has no way of getting it, but is giving vaguest guesses based on shallowest judgment, for facts. THE OREGONIAN has the very same reports of the Liverpool markets that every other newspaper on this coast which takes commercial dispatches receives, and the editor of the sham Farmer has, and can have, no better information. His gabble, therefore, is absurdly false.

Senator Conkling in his recent speech against the confirmation of Merritt, whom the president made collector of the port of New York during the recess of congress, commented with great severity upon the administration for tendering Arthur, the superseded collector, another appointment. He said that after the alleged damaging facts on which it is pretended that Arthur was removed were known to the president he solicited and urged Arthur to take a foreign position of great importance, as consul general at Paris or London. This, Conkling argued, proved sincerity on the part of the president, and showed that his alleged reason for the removal of Arthur was a mere pretext.

The annual report of the public printer which was recently presented to congress, shows that the actual cost to the government of the printing, binding, engraving, lithographing, etc, in that office for the last fiscal year, was $1,638,700. Improved machinery for printing and binding have been taken advantage of by the public printer, the result of which shows a considerable saving in the expenses of the office over the old methods. The report claims a great saving in the expenses of the Congressional Record over the expenditures on account of the Globe, taking as a basis the prices paid in 1871 and 1873.

Gov Robinson of New York, in his annual message, states that he has long been of the opinion that the experiment for the reformation of inebriates, as hitherto tried in the asylum at Binghampton, is a complete failure, and the leading managers of the institution are of the opinion that it has wholly failed to accomplish the laudable purposes for which it was undertaken, and to realize the high hopes on the part of the public for its success He recommends a suspension of appropriations for its support, and that it be changed into an asylum for the insane

The New York Times sees in the large subscriptions to the government four per cents an indication that capital is still distrustful of ordinary business enterprises This is only partially true The bonds are a ready collateral, and the disposition to invest in them must be coupled with this possibility of conversion. There is a glut of money, and there has been a long paralysis of business enterprise, but, day by day, we can see the sure signs of reawakening

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 25, 1879.

CITY.

A NEWSPAPER.—THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN will compare favorably with any paper published in the United States. The number issued this week is not behind its predecessors in point of interest, as the readers of the daily edition will find on examination. It contains a great variety of important information, filling over 53 columns of reading matter exclusive of advertisements. It is an abbreviated history of the world for the past week, and no one who desires to keep posted on the topics of the day can afford to do without it. The general make-up and character of the paper itself, aside from the information it gives in full from all parts of the Pacific coast, render it an excellent document to send to those people in the east who desire to learn more about this country.

THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—A dispatch from Lewiston states that the ice gorge at Hell Gate, which is directly opposite that place, is still as solid as ever. The ice is piled up all the way from shore to shore and for a considerable distance to a height of thirty feet above the natural height of the water, and extends below the surface probably an equal distance. The gorge at Long Island, five miles this side of Umatilla, is solid as rock, and as the temperature is two degrees below the freezing point, the prospects for its dislodgement are not immediate.

DEATH OF MR. NAYLOR.—On the 21st inst. Mr. Wm. Naylor departed this life at his home near this city. Deceased was 73 years old. Mr. Naylor was born in Kentucky and came to this county in 1852, and took up a donation claim on the Barnes road two miles west of this city, where he has ever since resided. He was a member of the Taylor street M. E. church, and was buried at Ames' chapel. He leaves an aged widow.

STILL IMPROVING.—Our friend Samuels still continues to improve his periodical, The West Shore, and the January number, just received, is the best yet out. It contains a fine panoramic view of the city of Victoria, besides a number of other illustrations. The contents are well written or selected with care. It deserves a place in every family.

LITERARY COURSE AT SALEM.—The introductory lecture will be delivered by Dr. Lindsley on Wednesday evening next. Other lecturers will be duly announced. The programme is attractive and worthy of the largest audiences. The object of the originators is to provide rational entertainment and raise funds for a benevolent purpose.

LETTER LIST.—The following letters remain uncalled for at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office: John A. Bothwick, Mac Cragan, Wm. Curfey, F. A. Clark, Mrs. E. F. Delay, J. L. Freidman, Mrs. D. B. Foster, Miss E'la Harding, Frank Harrington, John D. Hirley, F. C. Middleton, Geo. A. Sheppard, Spencer Tethmier.

HANDSOME PRESENT.—Miss Annie Firmin, who is well known in dramatic circles on this coast, was recently presented with two costly bracelets, in Delhi work, by the public of Adelaide, Australia. Miss Firmin and Mr. John Jack are now traveling professionally in the colonies with Davies, the ventriloquist.

O. S. W. S. A.—The Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association will meet in seventh annual convention in the city of Portland on Tuesday, the 11th day of February, 1879, and continue in session two or more days. Mrs. A. J. Duniway is president and H. A. Loughary is vice president of the association.

UNION SERVICES SUNDAY NIGHT.—The Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches will hold a Union meeting Sunday night in the Congregational church. Overflow meeting in the vestry. Union meetings will a so be held every night next week in the same church. All are invited.

DOWN THE RIVER.—Messrs. Trenelard & Upshur telegraphed us yesterday from Astoria as follows: Br bark Sabina and E. N. Cooke arrived down at 11 A. M.; light wind, cloudy and raining.

PORTLAND BETHEL SERVICES.—At 2 P. M. to-morrow Bethel services will be held on board the bark Corientes, Capt. Jones. The vessel lies at the foot of E street.

TEACHING SCHOOL.—Miss Sophia Durkheimer, a graduate of the high schoo of this city, is teaching school at Scatterville settlement, in Washington county.

IMPORTANT SALE.

PERSONAL.

Last evening we received a pleasant call from Mr Daniel Norcross, past grand representative, I. O. O. F., of California, who is at present on a visit to this state Mr. Norcross is one of the proprietors of the New Age, a paper published under the auspices of the order of Odd Fellows on this coast. His purpose in visiting this state is in the interest of the paper he represents. He left San Francisco some three months ago, and during his sojourn in Oregon has visited a large number of lodges. Today Mr. Norcross will go up on the west side and visit a number of Odd Fellow Lodges. He will return to this city and go down the river to Astoria. From there he will visit the Sound and Victoria, and expects to sail direct for San Francisco about the 10th of February. Mr. Norcross speaks in the highest terms of this state.

UNDER THE GASLIGHT.—This evening will be the last production of Augustin Daly's thrilling sensational play of "Under the Gaslight" with its gorgeous scenery and exciting railway scene.

THE MATINEE.—This afternoon at the matinee the great drama of "Arrah Na Pogue" will be given, James M. Ward as "Shaun the Post," in which character he sings several songs and dances the "Barn Door Jig." This exciting play embraces the whole strength of the company, and will doubtless draw a crowded house.

ENGAGEMENT EXTRAORDINARY.—Manager Maguire, ever thoughtful of the pleasure of the theater-going public, has now perfected an engagement, for two nights only, with the popular and well known humorist, Mr. C. B. (Yankee) Bunnell, who will appear as "Solon Shingle" in the elegant comedy of "The People's Lawyer." The talents of Mr. Plummer as a humorist are too well known for us to make any comments as to his merits, and the play, which is also well known, is the one made famous by the inimitable comedian Mr. John E Owens, who paraded his "barl of apple sass" throughout Eng and and America, and thereby enriched himself with a "barl of money." Mr. Plummer will be supported by the stock company.

THE BENEFIT.—The complimentary benefit tendered Miss Walters last evening was fairly attended. The attendance, however was not as large as the merits of the beneficiary and the ente-taining character of the performance deserved. The evening entertainment opened with Morris Barnett's elegant comedy in three acts, entitled "The Serious Family." Miss Jean Clara Walters assumed in very excellent manner the character of "Miss Delmayne," supported by the full cast Following this came an overture by the orchestra, when Miss Edgar favored us with a fine rendition of the Indiana song"—which was executed with such pleasing effect that the young lady won a most hearty encore. In response to prolonged calls the lady came on and sang a Spanish ballad. Miss Wade rendered the "Mulligan guards" in full costume, which was well rendered and won rounds of applause. The roaring farce of "An Object of Interest" concluded the performance, in which Miss Walters appeared as "Fanny Gribbles," with spunk.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

[Advocate and Seminal.]

Quarterly meeting at Lee Chapel on the 25th and 26th of January. The official members are especially invited to attend.

North Portland M. E. Mission Sunday school has been making the infant class happy by putting down a new carpet in the infant class room.

The revival services at Taylor-street M. E. church opened on Monday evening, with a meeting of much power. Twelve persons presented themselves as seekers of the pearl of great price.

We deeply regret to learn that Father Lafeuppese, who for nearly a year has been chaplain at St. Mary's academy in this city, is compelled by declining health to visit California for a few months.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

A pleasant social party was given last night at Turn Halle for the benefit of the Independent German school. The attendance was good. The various committees were polite and efficient, the music entertaining and the affair throughout was thoroughly agreeable.

The Concordia Club will give a grand inaugural dress ball at Turn Halle this evening. Preparations for the affair have been in progress for some time, and in charge of gentlemen thoroughly competent and interested in the work. Good music has been engaged, and no effort will be spared by the members of the club to entertain their guests.

INTERESTING TO LADIES.—Dickey's "Creme de Lis" has now been before the public for ten years, during which time this beautiful preparation has met with the highest approval at the hands of the fair sex—being as all who have used it will verify, the only perfect preparation o its kind. Every ingredient entering the composition of Dickey's "Creme de Lis" is subjected to the most rigid test of modern Chemistry, to insure the uniformity and purity of its combination, and neither time nor expense have been spared to make it perfect—it being well known the public will appreciate and support a truly meritorious article. Several nice beautifiers under various names have lately started into existence, but Dickey's Creme de Lis" has no competition in merit. Sold by all druggists.

SERMON ON THE COUNTY JAIL.

As previously announced, Rev Mr Eliot, of the Unitarian church, made the county jail the subject of a lecture on Sunday evening to a crowded audience. After describing and combatting the "laisser faire," or "let alone" principle now in vogue, the speaker indicated some of the grinding principles of law in relation to crime, and said that society, for self preservation, must not only repress crime but reform criminals But while all parists and prison congresses agree as to these principles they are not embodied as yet in statutes, except in part, or so timidly as practically to nullify the object The lecturer then continued as follows

The law's gravest problem is the fact of a class of habitual criminals, hovering on the skirts of orderly life, diseased by intemperance and poverty, breeding itself by moral contact and heredity, and constantly holding in solution what may be precipitated as crimes of violence and brutal cunning, a distinctly abnormal growth, with all the functions of perpetuation and increasing aggressiveness. And how does the law deal with this problem admittedly one that involves more than any other in the life of society?

That the law as such can only affect the criminal class at the point when social order is directly attacked, we may admit, and all that goes before is to say the least not readily reached by legislation But that which I wish carefully noted is the peculiar duty of law within its declared and imperative function. Instead of adequately punishing, it pecks at crime Instead of restraining the petty criminal, it emboldens him. Instead of throwing guards about the offender the law educates him into new offense. The evidence of this lies in the system of short sentences, and in that infamous cesspool of pestilence, imprisonment, with enforced idleness which seethes and bubbles poisonous air under our court house, put there as if to be the foundation of justice, and a silent vindicator of purity and Righteousness, but mocking the very court that has placed above it with ribald laughter and sullen hate, our grand school of crime, a clearing house for the devices of criminal life, the rogues' parliament, victualed and supported by a fatuous state! Our jail is a legitimate outcome of the system of short sentences which must be changed for one in which the criminal offender will find himself met at each new offense with a geometrical ratio of severity. Thus, for a first offense a reprimand or lightest penalty, for a second a far more severe sentence, and for a third or fourth an indefinite sentence only terminated by proof of reformation. Such a method of sentencing is felt by all the great students of crime to be the radical reform needed. But society at large must pass through a long education before that reform, with its proper checks and complements, will meet with popular favor.

This public, however, and every awakened public, is capable to day of understanding that our method of imprisonments is a blot on society—a blur on its sanity. The most careless consideration of that method ought to arouse a sense of shame and indignation, and the case with which at least a partial reform might be made ought to prompt us to vigorous action. But, alas! will anything here said effect more than a passing ripple upon the public mind? Will not the inertia, which returns as sleep does upon the poor victim of narcotic poison between the very blows intended to arouse him, so return upon this community after all is said, and "all things will be as they were?" Yet I remember the word of Jesus "One soweth and another reapeth." Perhaps for this now spoken stronger hands and minds than mine may some day be moved to push the needed reforms and hew out the difficult way. Let me then turn over a few pages of jail life as it is, and if they sicken you remember that worse might be said did not decency forbid.

Not more than six weeks since there were 48 persons at once in charge of the jailer. I have no definite classification of them, but can safely affirm that six were under indictment of murder, that double this number were sailors, that several were under twenty years of age, that there was the usual sprinkling of those charged with selling liquor to Indians or with theft. Among them have no doubt were some awaiting the action of the grand jury, and who may be ultimately cleared Arrested by what is called spite work, they lie in jail by a kind of outrage of justice, together with here and there an imprisoned witness who can not furnish bonds. Regarded from the physical side only, the indiscriminateness of this assemblage is awful, and yet under the present system it must exist, for the jailer has no remedy. I only wonder that our jailers have done so well. At night these men must sleep, six or eight, in a cell ten feet square, allowing a maximum of say 150 cubic feet of air (about the amount contained in a large dry goods box) to each, and with all practicable ventilation, the exhaled air must be nearly dead—first on the floor, and, as night goes on, reaching the higher bunks. In the day time the cells are not opened. This the day the warden is only present for brief inspection, and the inmates pass long hours in the corridor, where there is no privacy for any part of daily living. Only in exceptional cases are those under indictment supplied with change of clothing. THE PERKINS FAMILY.

We have been handed the following letter which was addressed to the Postmaster of Portland, with the request to publish the same:

PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, January 9th, 1879.

I observe in the Toledo "Blade" of January 2d, a correspondent writing from San Francisco, Cal., under date of Dec. 20th, quoting a Portland dispatch, which, among other things says: "The Yakima volunteers have returned from Priests' Rapids. Four of the Perkins' murderers are in jail," etc. * * * * Some 35 or 40 years ago, a man named John Nelson Perkins, with his family, consisting of his wife and two or three children, left this county and went to Indiana, I think After residing there several years, Perkins moved to Oregon, overland by way of Fort Hall. They left the States in the month of March and got to Oregon about the 20th of October, if I remember right. The name of the place where they stopped I have forgotten. His wife's maiden name was Derissa Malster. She had two sisters, named Elizabeth and Keturah, and three brothers, named George, David, and John. Perkins' daughter, Celia, married and went from Oregon to Washington Territory, where she died, leaving a son and daughter which Perkins brought back to Oregon. John N. Perkins was a preacher in the Christian (or Newlight) denomination when he left here. He also practiced medicine. After he got to Oregon, he took homesteads for himself and family, which amounted to several hundred acres at that time. He was at one time a member of the Territorial or State legislature of Oregon, 1861.

Some months since I saw in several of our papers an account of the murder by the Indians of a man and his wife by the name of Perkins, and we want to know if they are the parties that I have been describing to you.

If you know anything about them, you will confer a very great favor by giving what information you may have or can get to my address; or if you do not know anything about them, and can get any of your State papers to make enquiries for the family, and address me as below, and by so doing you will oblige their many friends and relatives.

A. S. F. SOCIETY.

We are in receipt of the 50th annual report of the American Seamen's Friend Society presented by the board of trustees at the anniversary meeting, held on the 6th of last May.

Among other interesting matter is the following neat and deserved compliment paid to Rev. R. S. Stubbs, of this city:

The furthest away is the Rev. R S Stubbs, who, at the instance of the pastors of Portland and vicinity and with the strong commendation of Gen. O O. Howard, U. S. A., was commissioned as our chaplain to labor for seamen in those distant parts.

Mr. Stubbs was once a sailor, and has personal knowledge of the sailors' character and needs, with singular adaptation to evangelical work among them. He has been extensively engaged since last June in his field, which embraces the seaports accessible to him north and west of Portland, and finds more than enough to engage his energies and occupy his time. Rev. Mr. Stubbs has already enlisted the sympathy and co-operation of the Christian public, and has been successful in raising for a Sailors' Home and Church the generous sum of $5 60.

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.

"A Friend of Humanity" writes as follows. "Prudence," in a late issue of THE OREGONIAN, calls public attention to the prevention of diphtheria, and gives us no preventive. I now give you a preventive that is infallible. I have used it ever since diphtheria made its appearance in Oregon with entire success

Remedy—Sponge off the body with strong salt water and rub thoroughly, twice a week, and apply turpentine to the neck with a feather, applying it from ear to ear, every morning To cure the diphtheria, apply as above, and wet a flannel cloth in strong vinegar and bind on the neck and throat until the skin becomes a scarlet red and remains red. After the cloth has been removed, if a burning sensation is not produced in twenty minutes, saturate the neck and breast again with turpentine and apply the flannel cloth wet in vinegar, until the parts become red.

In severe cases gargle the throat with a solution of potassi and iodin nister from 5 to 10 drops of turpentine, and keep the bowels open with mild cathartic. If these directions are closely followed your patient will be well in from six to twelve hours. In dangerous cases apply turpentine to the bowels, arms and legs below the knees, and bind on the flannel wet with vinegar I have doctored hundreds of cases and never lost one.

GEO. E. COLE, P. M.

I firmly believe Fellows' Hypophosphites has done more good than any medicine yet discovered in the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough and kindred diseases.

W. H. THOMPSON,
Telegraph Station,
Harbour Grace, Newfoundland.

Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving away, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the material to build them up, and the tonic to keep them there.

Pugwash, N. H. DR. CLAY.

Each effort of the mind, every act of the body, will extract a volume of nervous element, in proportion to the magnitude of the thought or action, and since Fellows' Hypophosphites really will supply the exhaust to the body, it must support the human mechanism successfully after the vigor of youth is passed.

DR. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Private Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life, to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his, astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin, he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
